Caregiver's

HOME COMPANION

Pederson Publishing is a full service marketing and publishing company building mutually beneficial relationships between family and professional elder-caregivers and the companies and organizations that market to them and the elderly. The result is a better informed caregiver, armed with information, resources and support, and quality marketers successfully connected with decision-making caregivers.

THE PRODUCT: CaregiversHome.com is the No. 1 most-popular commercial website in the caregiving category and offers advertisers and sponsors long visits and a highly targeted audience. Pederson Publishing's quick rise to the top of the website popularity rankings* in its category is a credit to its highly effective targeting of content, resources and caregiver support themes. As a result, visitors stay on the site an average of 11-14 minutes per session – great news for advertisers and sponsors who compete for motivated purchasers with their marketing messages.

CaregiversHome.com reaches family and professional caregivers with the latest caregiving news and information, several weekly columns, a searchable archive of more than 3,000 interesting and helpful articles, full-text of the popular weekly e-newsletter The Caregiver's Hotline, caregiver message boards, timely tips and professional caregiving advice from Pederson's outstanding Board of Experts.

These content areas provide a caregiver-rich setting for advertisers, sponsors and marketers who can spread their message on specific content channels or attached to certain categories, or they can sell their wares in the website's growing ecommerce area called The Caregiver's eMall.

The website, located at www.caregivershome.com, is an attractive and bustling platform for advertising, ecommerce, sponsored columns and links to create:

- Sales leads resulting in a direct customer relationships
- Product, service and brand awareness
- Unmatched entrée to family and professional caregivers alike
